THE COURT OF APPEALS DECIDES

THE ACT CREATING BECKHAM COUNTY VIOLATES THE CONSTITUTION.

The legislative act creating the county of Beckham was declared by the Court of Appeals to be unconstitutional and void in that it violates Sections 63 and 64 of that instrument, which sections prohibit the reducing of the area of the counties from which a new county is made to less than four hundred square miles, their population to less than 12,000 and the line within ten miles of an old county seat.

The decision was given by the court in agreed cases of Carter county against Zimmerman and Brooks, here on appeal from the Carter Circuit Court, and it is a reversal of that court, which sustained a demurrer and refused to allow the county of Carter to be heard in the matter. The court here says this was error and remands the cases for further proceedings.

The lower court practically admitted all the allegations of the petition as to the territory involved, but took the ground that the judicial department of the State Government could not go behind the bill creating the new county proposed and inquire into the facts upon which the General Assembly acted. The court, in passing upon that question, says that the provisions of the Constitution are as binding upon the General Assembly as upon an individual, and as mandatory, and that it is proper for the courts to inquire into findings by the Legislature, and it has authority to ascertain whether the provisions of the Constitution as to area, population and location of lines are followed by the General Assembly in the formation of a new county.

ZIMMERMAN'S ALLEGATIONS.

The allegations of the petition of Zimmerman were that the county of Beckham was created out of parts of the counties of Carter, Elliott and Lewis; that the part taken from Carter county leaves it with only about 250 square miles; that the county line between Beckham and Carter counties runs within less than two miles of the county seat of Carter county; that Elliott county, before any territory was taken from it, had less than 400 square miles, and was by the act reduced to far less than that; that the area of Carter county was 354 square miles, the area of Lewis county 454 square miles, and Elliott county 274 square miles; that the new county line runs within six miles of Grayson, the county seat of Carter, and within seven miles of Vanceburg, the county seat of Lewis county; that the area of Beckham county does not exceed 286 square miles; that Lewis county is reduced to 300 miles, Elliott to 234 miles; that the population of Beckham county is less than 12,000, and that its establishment reduces Carter and Elliott to less than 12,000 each.

In discussing the case, the court here, in brief, says:

We shall proceed to settle the case on its merits, as it is of grave importance to all the parties concerned to have the validity of the act settled before liabilities are incurred for county buildings, and other steps taken in the organization of the new county. It is insisted for appellants that the boundary of the county, as given in the act, will not close and in fact takes in part of the State of Ohio. But taking the act as a whole, there seems to be enough in it to show what was meant; for the third section gives minutely the boundary of each of the five magisterial districts by natural objects, and by putting these districts together the mistake in the call of one of the lines, if there is one, can be readily discovered and corrected. The act must be treated like a patent, and will not be rejected as void because of a mistake in one of the calls if from the whole act what was meant can be reasonably determined. The rule is that the court will inspect the whole act, and if the actual intention of the Legislature can be thus ascertained, the false description will be rejected or words substituted in the place of these used by mistake, so as to give effect to the law. It is not presumed that the Legislature intended to include in the county a part of the State of Ohio.

CONSTITUTIONAL OBJECTION.

The constitutional objection to the act is more serious. It is earnestly maintained for appellants that the constitutional restrictions as to area and population or location of the county line are for the guidance of the legislators, and that when the Legislature has acted it is incompetent for the courts to inquire into the correctness of the legislative findings. * * *

The court must have judicial knowledge of the counties of the State and their boundaries, as fixed by the Statutes, of the public surveys made by the State and published by its authority. These are matters of common knowledge within the State, and if the court does not remember the facts it will resort to the books to refresh its memory. In this way we know approximately the area of the counties of the State, and know that Carter county had by the geological survey an area of 544 square miles, Elliott county 270, Lewis county 450; total 1,264, as given in the official report of the Bureau of Agriculture, so that Carter county can properly contribute only 144 square miles to the formation of a new county, Elliott nothing, and Lewis only fifty square miles. We must therefore, take judicial notice that only 194 square miles can on this basis be cut from these counties without infringing the mandate of the Constitution. We know that since the geological survey was made of Carter county part of it has been cut off to other counties. The State Board of Equalization reports show that the land assessed for taxation in the three counties referred to is as follows: Carter, 219,686 acres; Elliott, 141,982, and Lewis, 309,503. It thus appears that Carter county is now, in fact, not as large as Lewis, and contains less than 400 square miles. As shown by these figures, the actual area of both Carter and Elliott must be less than 400 square miles, and we must, therefore, presume that no part of the territory of either of these counties can be cut off to form a new county without a violation of the Constitution.

By the terms of the Constitution the following conditions must be complied with before a new county may be formed: No county from which any part of the territory is taken must be reduced to less than 400 square miles; the new county must be of not less than 400 square miles; the boundary line of the new county must not pass within less than ten miles of the county seat of any county from which a portion of its territory is taken; no county from which any part of its territory is taken shall be reduced to less than 12,000 inhabitants; the new county must contain not less than 12,000 inhabitants. If any of these conditions are wanting the act is in violation of the Constitution and void. The Circuit Court erred in refusing to allow the petition of Carter county to be filed. He also erred in sustaining the demurrer to plaintiffs' petition. Judgment reversed and cause remanded for further proceedings not inconsistent with this opinion.

Revenue Employees Cannot Re- main on Committee.

The next meeting of the Republican County Executive Committee will be probably marked by the resignation of three of the members, John W. Pruitt, W. O. Brown and H. G. Gardner. All three are employed in the internal revenue service, and are said to have been told by Joseph A. Craft, the Collector of Internal Revenue, that they could have their choice of resigning from the committee or from the Government service, and it is expected they will continue to hold the positions to which salaries are attached.—Courier Journal.

When a man begins to edit the Bible to suit himself, it is time to audit his accounts to protect yourself.

JOHN D. WHITE

And That Republican Convention —Takes the Floor.

That indefatigable Republican chieftain, ex-Congressman John D. White, writes the Courier-Journal requesting that it publish the amendments which he offered to the State platform and which he complains the Republican organs, though their editors were elected to report faithfully the proceedings of the convention, have refused to publish.

These amendments, which Mr. White says were, "after a sad faux pas, unanimously adopted," were as follows:

"First—We sympathize with all wise and legitimate efforts to lessen and prevent the evils of intemperance and promote morality.

"Second—We demand that laws be passed and rigidly enforced, excluding from entrance to the United States those who cannot read or write, or who are criminals, paupers, or dangerously diseased.

"Third—We declare our unequalled condemnation of the barbarous practice, North and South, or elsewhere, known as lynching or assassinating human beings, suspected or charged with crime, without due process of law."

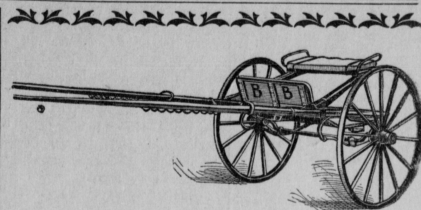

Having made his request for the publication of these amendments, in order that the public may be able to form a just opinion as to whether the criticisms of his course were fair, Mr. White adds:

"In reply to your charge that the platform adopted by an office-holding convention was, appropriately enough, mainly a eulogy, or an adulation, rather, of the chief dispenser of patronage, allow me to say that I feel sure that the Republican party throughout the State of Kentucky is determined to draw the line on the governing authority of the party, so as to have the members of the precinct, county, district and State committees or 'governing authority' of the party, composed of free men, selected by the Republican voters themselves rather than by a chief dispenser of Federal patronage, whether located under the shadow of the White House in Washington or occupying some subservient Federal position within the State of Kentucky."

Properly enough, Mr. White seems to recognize the fact that something more than his feeling is requisite to convince anybody that the Republican party of Kentucky contemplates any such reform; so he cites as an earnest of such a purpose the report that Collector Craft has demanded that three of his subordinates must resign from the local committee of fifteen office-holders. Mr. White must be an unusually sanguine man if he expects such a reformation to proceed from the removal of three office-holders from one local committee, after the work of constituting and running the convention in the interest of the officeholders has been done.

Having made known his feeling and offered the meager evidence in confirmation of it, Mr. White proceeds:

"When we consider that the members of the committees in the 120 counties of the State are largely composed of persons holding Federal positions either as United States Collectors of Internal Revenue or United States Marshals, Deputy Marshals, Postmasters or Storekeepers and Gaugers and United States District Attorneys, and that there are more than five thousand of such Federal office holders within the State of Kentucky, it can readily be seen how utterly inappropriate it was for the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue, who was never elected by the Republican voters of the State of Kentucky for any office within the gift of the people, but who by a peculiar concatenation of events, has been intrusted with the distribution of Federal patronage in the State of Kentucky, should have been selected to preside over the Republican convention held in this city last Tuesday.

"'Tis true, 'tis pity; and, pity 'tis 'tis true,'

"One of the most successful business men in this State and one of the most earnest and energetic Republicans in the Seventh Congressional District, a man of wealth and a professor in a college, who has at least three thousand graduates of his institution of learning now holding positions of trust and profit in the State of Kentucky, requested me to offer in the convention Tuesday the following resolutions:

"Whereas, President Roosevelt is the embodiment of civil service reform:

"Resolved, That this convention does not indorse the action of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue with his host of collectors, storekeepers and gaugers, supplemented by the Surveyor of the Port and the United States Marshal, in their attempt to control the action of the Republican party;

Resolved, That the Republicans of Kentucky who hold no offices should assert themselves and drive these money-changers and patronage venders from the temple of Republican liberty."

"Upon reflection he approved of why I declined to introduce them. But I think that the Hon. A. E. Wilson must have had it in mind when he gave notice that he would object to making of the temporary chairman, the permanent chairman of said convention. There should have been no compromise with dishonor.

"By law, the governing authority of the party is authorized to canvass votes and declare results in a congressional district. No such authority is given to the State Central Committee. But the Kentucky Court of Appeals has decided that the State Court will not review the action of the governing authority of the political parties in the relation of candidates. See Moody against Trimble, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 692. Then down with Yerkes as 'dispenser.' Let the people rule. I regret that I was not given a respectful hearing, either in said convention or through the Republican organs, on the subject."

We do not know why Mr. White declined to introduce the foregoing resolutions. Perhaps he recognized both their inconsistency and the hopelessness of trying to pass them through any such convention. It would certainly have been the extreme of inconsistency to eulogize President Roosevelt and condemn his convention, constituted of his officeholders and organized by his officeholders as his agents, with his personal sanction and no doubt under his personal direction. To laud President Roosevelt as "the embodiment of civil service reform" and to condemn his agents and representatives as "money changers and patronage venders" would have been too absurd even for suggestion.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

There is a law on the statute books which says Sundays must be observed and to this must a penalty is attached for the purpose of punishing those persons who will not observe our Sundays. For the enforcement of this, as well as all other laws, men are chosen by the people to see that they are observed and should these people prove derelict in their duty then there is cause for removal, and if the removing is not done speedily then it is up to higher authorities who must answer to the people that elected them.

Is it right to observe our Sundays? The Bible, the highest authority to men, declares it, and our law makers approved the Word by enactments. All men concede it is right to observe Sunday and if so the people should demand their observance, and stand by the authorities who enforce the law.

COMMENDABLE ORGANIZATION.

Among the objects of the organization of the Kentucky Trap Shooters League is the promotion of trap shooting, the protection of fish and game and closer fraternal relations among sportsmen of the State.

Their 2d Annual Champion target shoot will come off here May 24 and 25.

Their objects are really commendable, and if the members are true to their duty they will be vigilant.

RATHER QUEER.

The New York Times is demanding that Judge Parker declared himself on the political issues of the day, but the Judge don't seem willing to relieve the Times' anxiety. It may be Judge Parker is waiting for the coming of a party platform that he may know whether or not he can conscientiously adjust himself to it. The Democrats are rather queer these latter days.

Profit will come from Auditor's Agent Lucas agitation of the question of taxes on money on deposit in State Banks. This money is subject to taxation and it may follow now that on demand of the Assessor the Banks will be compelled to give for listment the money in their banks, and thereby prohibit the depositors from swindling the State any longer.

NEW BOOK.

"Glorious Praise" is the name of a new song book fresh from the press. The reviewers are high in its praise. Why not, when the choice selections of Dr. W. Howard Doane and William J. Kirkpatrick are contained therein. In addition are all the old favorite songs set to the old tunes.

The temperance people may pull themselves together for a fight on local option. It looks very much that way now. The temperance people feel the necessity of this step from the fact that drunkenness is so often observed on our streets.

RAILROAD.

No question interests the people of Montgomery county more than the railroad question now before them, neither is there any question of more vital importance that could be presented to them. Upon the construction of this or some other road at this very period, depends the prosperous future of the county. The Mt. Sterling Short Line is the one and only available road now. It is the initial on which may depend the coming of others. Our own county is rich in resources and east of us are God's store houses of wealth now being developed, the bulk of which can find its way to the markets through Mt. Sterling and leave a profit to the people of Montgomery county. This statement is not at all visionary, but the closer to us are our home products and markets, our inlets and outlets, the savings on freights, and the prosperous new enterprises it would bring. The reduction of taxes, the betterment of our public roads, the beautifying of our city home—the home industries; all these things and more are dependent on the coming of the Mt. Sterling Short Line and to obtain it means this: "Those who have subscribed must subscribe more, those who have not given at all must do it now; don't be ashamed of the little for it is the dimes that make dollars and dollars that make their thousands. Every dollar is needed now, farmers, professional men and women, merchants, mechanics, of every kindred tribe and tongue come to the front now. The county is ours, let's make of it what it should be. The committee need a few more thousand dollars and we must raise it. Give your best and then see your neighbor that he does the same.

A COMPROMISE.

The Republican State Convention is over and was a compromise affair, Yerkes and Bradley entered the city and went to the same hall anything but friends. But the party pacified the babies by making one Chairman of the Convention and sending the other to the Chicago Convention from the State at large. Then the negro who they would delight to cast off and who had reminded the party of this condition of affairs was given a place with Yerkes and Bradley, white babies, and the sugar treat that quieted the black baby was the making of him a delegate from the State at large to the Chicago Convention in company with the immortal Bradley.

The party had mighty little to say about platform. Presidents' acts were satisfactory so they endorsed them. This of course carries with it Roosevelt's negro social ideas illustrated by his having Booker Washington, the negro, to dine with him. The leaders want harmony for the sake of winning and want to win for what they may be able to get out of it. At least it looks that way.

The interests of the people are to be that of lookers on and see how the nation's office-holders headed by Yerkes can draw big salaries, snub and defy men like Bradley who has given to the party in Kentucky respectability and power.

Consider Unification At Big Banquet In Chicago—Another Conference.

A unification of Presbyterianism was the theme of discussion at the banquet of the Presbyterian Social Union held at the Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, May 4, 1904. Nearly 400 laymen and many ministers were present. Robert F. Coyle, of Denver, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church, North, discussed "Presbyterianism and Unity," strongly advocating the wiping out of doctrinal lines in the Presbyterian church.

Announcement was made of a conference to be held between representatives of the Cumberland Presbyterian and Presbyterian churches, at Buffalo this month, looking to a union of the two churches.

At Peace.

John W. Yerkes, Commissioner of Internal Revenue and President Roosevelt's personal representative in Kentucky, whipped into line that portion of the Republican party which is opposed to an office-holding machine and completely dominated the Republican State Convention in Louisville. The platform adopted was a fulsome panegyric on President Roosevelt, for whom the delegates were instructed to vote at the National Convention in Chicago.

Mr. Yerkes was made temporary chairman without opposition, after which ex-Gov. W. O. Bradley, R. P. Ernest, George W. Long and E. E. Underwood, colored, were elected delegates-at-large to the National Convention. Col. Morris B. Belknap, late Republican nominee for Governor of Kentucky, was mentioned only once during the convention.—Courier-Journal.

Incorporation articles were also filed by the Caney and West Liberty Railroad Company, of Morgan county, with $50,000 capital stock. The incorporators are W. M. Reed, A. G. Owsley, C. M. Martin, W. B. Smith and W. B. Kennedy, all of Paducah. The railroad to be constructed by the company will begin at the town of Cannell City, in the county of Morgan, and, running wholly within the county, extend through the town of Caney to West Liberty, the county seat, where it will connect with the Morehead and West Liberty Railroad Company, a distance of eight miles.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Mt. Sterling Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching. With distressing urinary disorders. Daily existence is but a struggle. No need to keep it up—Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.

J. B. Lewis, of 426 Shelby St., editor of the Frankfort Roundabout, says: "For a year or more I suffered a great deal from a dull aching pain across my back. At times the aching was constant for a day or two. If I sat still but for a short time it became almost unbearable and if I stooped or lifted anything I felt sharp twinges in the small of my back. The secretions from the kidneys were most irregular as well as highly colored and the odor very offensive. I had my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills through our papers and got a box. After using them a few days I commenced to see an improvement. I kept on with the treatment and the pains on my back entirely left me and the kidney secretions became normal. From the great amount of good I derived from the use of this medicine I have every reason to be convinced of its merit and have had the slightest hesitancy in giving it my hearty endorsement."

Plenty more proof like this from Mt. Sterling people. Call at the drug store of F. C. Duerson's and ask what his customers report.

Colored Bishop Suggested.

At the Methodist General Conference in Los Angeles Dr. George Elliott, of Detroit, presented a memorial asking for the consideration of the advisability of the election of a colored bishop. He said he believed the church had reached a crisis in its relations with the colored race. Delegate Charles P. McClelland, of New York, opposed Dr. Elliott, saying the race question had been brought before the conference entirely too much. The quadrennial addresses of the bishops stated that the relations between the Northern and Southern branches of the church were growing more fraternal and intimate.

Making a Platform.

The Republican leaders in Washington are devoting much attention to their platform to be adopted at the coming national convention in Chicago. Senator Lodge, who is slated for chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, has prepared sketches of various topics that he thinks should be treated and has submitted them to Senators and others for suggestions. The principal feature of the platform, it is said, will be the tariff plan, which will adhere to the principles of protection, but will not limit the party not to revise the tariff.

GOIN' TO THE FAIR.

Marie is raisin' chickens. An' Bill is raisin' wood. A savin' up their pennies. As prudent people should. Of father's pension money He's puttin' by a share. 'Cause every one is countin' On goin' to the fair.

Nance ain't a-chavin' candy The way she used to do. An' Joe has given up smokin'. He hardly takes a chew; An' an' his last winter's wearin' This season she will wear. To 'ye all a savin' money To spend it at the fair. That show down in St. Louis Will be a grand affair. An' every person figures That somehow he'll get there. So each has got a stockin' To save his little hoard, For it will take some money To pay the fare an' board. So Pete is spittin' fence rails, An' Tom is cuttin' ice. An' Sally's quit her music. To put aside the price. An' Uncle Ed lets, weekly, Out his old-time fiddle. For every one is countin' On goin' to the fair.

Sad Accident.

One of the most pathetic accidents that ever took place in that neighborhood, occurred near Crook ettsville, in this county. The wife of Richard Combs, had gone into the field to clear ground for planting corn, and taken her babe, only 8 months old. She had set fire to corn stalks when a high wind caused the adjacent woodland to take fire, and thus threatened fencing of the neighborhood. Mrs. Combs ran to where the fire had caught. Returning to her babe, she was horrified to find that sparks had fired the bed in the box in which the infant lay, that the box and bed were burned to ashes and only a nearly cremated corpse was all that remained.

The above is from the Jackson Hustler and is vouched for by Col. T. M. Morrow, the editor.

Railroad Companies File Incorporation Articles.

At Frankfort, Ky., on May 4 Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the Secretary of State by the Columbia and Leonaon Interurban Railway Company, of Marion county, which has $1,000,000 capital stock, and paid thereon $10,000 organization tax into the State Treasury. The company will build forty-six miles of electric railway, from the town of Lebanon, through the county of Taylor to the town of Columbia, in Adair county, and a spur track in the town of Bradfordsville, in Marion county.

Tobacco.

The big prices realized for tobacco the past two or three weeks will probably cause an immense crop to be planted this year. There are many who think that tobacco will bring good prices for a year or two yet, no matter how much is raised. If these predictions prove true the condition of the farmers and tobacco raisers will be greatly improved and in that way the country will reap the benefit. When the farmer has money to spend the merchant usually gets a large share of it.

Flies are not altogether bad. One of the pesky things saved a Minneapolis man $648 the other day. He had the money in a wallet in his coat pocket and was dozing in a chair. A fly lighted on his nose and refused to get off. Maddened by the tormentor, the man made a vicious pass and struck the hand of a pickpocket that had just closed on his wallet. The money was saved and not a cent of it will ever be invested in sticky fly paper.

EASY WAY TO CURE CATARRH

Breathe Hymenei and Kill All Catarrhal Germs. "Money Back if it Fails," Says W. S. Lloyd.

There is no dangerous stomach drugging when using Hymenei. The healing and aromatic balsams which compose this wonderful treatment are breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with only $1 outfit.

In this way, the germ-killing and health giving Hymenei penetrates to the most remote cells of the lungs. It searches out and kills disease germs in the air passages of the head, throat and nose, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane, and absolutely drives catarrh from the system.

Such remarkable results have followed the use of Hymenei by the best people in Mt. Sterling, that W. S. Lloyd has the greatest confidence in its power to cure catarrh. He believes it is so thoroughly, that he will give his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure, the purchaser to be sole judge. This is an unusual offer and no treatment for the cure of catarrh has been sold in this way. If it cures, the expense is trifling, while if it fails, the cost is absolutely nothing.

If you are fortunate enough not to be troubled with catarrh, tell your friends of W. S. Lloyd's offer and get them to take advantage of it. [May 11, 25.

Natural Gas and Heat.

Natural gas for illuminating and heating purposes is promised for Lexington in the near future, and if the plans of the Appalachian Gas and Oil Company materialize the new method of lighting and heating will probably go into effect by the first of next September. The company has recently secured the franchises of Lexington and Winchester, paying about $10,000 for them, and by fall the promoters hope to be able to supply both places with natural gas. The wells are located in Estill county, and a pipe line will be run from the fields to these cities. It is understood that a Pennsylvania syndicate is interested with the local capitalists in the venture, and when completed the pipe line will be thirty-eight miles long.

Official.

The official announcement of the attendance at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition on April 30, the opening day, has been made by President Francis. The total attendance was 187,793. The recorded admissions amounted to 178,423. The difference between the total attendance and the recorded admissions is the number of invited guests, employees, exhibitors, concessionaires and officials, some of whom were in the grounds all night and others of whom were admitted without having passes through the turnstile.

1904-The World's Fair Line-1904

SHE MUST HAVE BEEN A KENTUCKIAN
"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"To the World's Fair at St. Louis, sir," she said
"Over what line will you travel, my dear?" said he.
"Over the 'Henderson Route,' of course," said she.
"Why over that road do you go?" he said.
"For Free Meeting Chamber Cars, sir," she said.
"And when time the Palace of Travel?" he said.
"From Kentucky—through Evansville—to St. Louis," said she.
"You seem to be pleased with that line," he said.
"They are 'Good Service' originators, sir," she said.
"I'm traveling another route—'tis as good, said he.
"You'll have to show me, 'kind sir," she said.
"All lines look alike to me," he said.
"I can only see one—'The Henderson,' she said.
"I need not a helmsman, my dear," said he.
"Won't you travel to St. Louis my wife, with me?"
"I doubt not a helmsman you need," said she.
"But the Henderson Route Comfort line—for me!"
"Then, will you not come my way?" he said.
"So, I'm for the Henderson any day," she said.
"Is the choice of routes worth more than my love?" said he.
"No! not the choicest of routes is, dear sir, said she.
"Let the Henderson Route habit first," she said.

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have had forty years of scientific experience.

Every method of bread-and-cake raising has been exhaustively studied in this country and abroad.

The result is a perfect product in Royal Baking Powder. There is no substitute for it. The purity and efficiency of Royal Baking Powder have been commended by the highest authorities.

These facts mean two important things to all housekeepers:

First: that Royal Baking Powder is healthful and makes wholesome food.

Second: that Royal Baking Powder makes food good to taste.

Low Estimate on Life.

It may, or may not, be gratifying to Kentuckians to know that of the 1,300 prisoners in the Frankfort penitentiary 215 are there for murder, and that Frankfort has more life-term prisoners than any prison in the United States. These statistics prove that life is held too cheaply in Kentucky.

A special commission appointed to inquire into the cause of the disaster to the Russian warship, Petropavlovsk, off the harbor of Port Arthur, has after full investigation, announced that it was from a mine laid by the Japanese.

R. T. Ryan, foreign missionary, will raise $15,000 for Yates College, Shanghai, and Kentucky's part of this is $2,500. Yates College is a Baptist institution and this amount is to come from the Baptists of the States.

Says Extortion is Practiced at St. Louis.

Former Senator T. H. Carter, chairman of the government board of the St. Louis exposition, called on President Roosevelt. He declared the extortion practiced at the St. Louis hotels would seriously injure the attendance. He says a rate of $15 a day without meals is a prevailing price at many of the hostlers.

Kilbourne & Jacobs, manufacturers of Columbus, O., will send their 600 employees to the World's Fair, paying all expenses. JUDAH BENJAMIN'S FAREWELL

It is One of the Most Notable Addresses of the Senate.

Thomas R. Martin, a lawyer of Washington, D. C., who is associated with his brother, Henry M. Martin, in compiling the farewell speeches of United States senators during the war of secession, is in the city to gather all obtainable data concerning the life and career of Judah P. Benjamin, one of the greatest statesmen that ever represented Louisiana in the senate chamber, the only attorney general of the confederacy and one of the most distinguished lawyers of two continents, says the New Orleans Picayune.

Of all the vast quantity of matter that has been published about the civil war the farewell addresses of the United States senators from the south have never been given to the public, and that is what the Messrs. Martin intend to do.

"In going through some old documents in the congressional library recently," Mr. Martin said, "I found the farewell speech of Judah P. Benjamin, delivered at the time he surrendered his senatorial commission. Charles Sumner pronounced it the greatest speech delivered prior to the war. When Mr. Benjamin concluded his address there was not a dry eye in the senate chamber. Judah P. Benjamin was preceded in delivering his farewell address by John Slidel, who retired from the United States senate on the same day.

"A most interesting fact in connection with this is that these speeches have never appeared in print and we are devoting a great deal of time and labor to getting them together.

"All the addresses of that day were of a sensational character. We find another striking scene at the address of John C. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, who delivered a speech full of pathos and breathed his sympathy for the confederate cause. Just as Breckinridge was drawing to a close Senator Baker, of Oregon, entered the senate chamber. Baker was then a general officer in the union army and he had just come in from the field of battle. When Breckinridge concluded Baker, attired in full uniform, took the floor. He placed his saber on his desk and addressed the president of the senate. His opening utterance was sensational and it at once arrested the attention of the audience and held spellbound both the floor and the gallery. He began: 'Mr. President, the senator from Kentucky is uttering words of treason under the very dome of the capitol.'

Political Shackles.

A true disciple of Christ cannot afford to be bound by political shackles or enslaved by sectarian creeds. We are true men in Christ Jesus. No man or party should dare trample upon our liberty.

We have a right to select our own Governor and no man dares to molest us. The question, which should be uppermost in the mind of every voter is, which of the two men, running for a certain office, is the best qualified for the office, which will do the most for the upbuilding of the country or State? It should not be a question as to what party he belongs to. The Christian patriot should rise higher than party lines. He should seek that which will bring the most happiness to the greatest number of people; that which will do the greatest amount of good to the greatest number concerned.—Ex.

Because her husband's body is laid with its face to the North, Mrs. Clarence Folsom, of St. Louis, will have it disinterred and turned around. A permit was issued by Mortuary Clerk Smyth to the Smithers Undertaking Company to make the change. Mrs. Folsom had informed the undertaker that since his burial, February 28 last, her husband's spirit had appeared to her several times and begged that he be no longer compelled to lie with his face to the regions of darkness. In accordance with these messages, Mrs. Folsom has ordered the change made.

LIKE FINDING MONEY.

W. S. Lloyd Offers Popular Medicine at Half-Price.

W. S. Lloyd, the popular druggist, is making an offer that is just like finding money, for he is selling a regular 50-cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half-price. In addition to this large discount he agrees to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means, for it is only recently, through the solicitation of Druggist W. S. Lloyd, that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents, he urged the proprietors to allow him to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified his good judgment, for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, W. S. Lloyd will return your money. [May 11, 25]

Enormous.

There are 16 states in the union no one of which contains as many people as migrated to this country last year. The population of Montana is only a little larger than the total increase in Italian population; that of Arizona is less than the Russian immigration. If all the Austro-Hungarian immigrants had settled in Idaho they would have more than doubled the population of the state. Nevada would be more than twice as thickly inhabited as at present if it had received all the Germans. The total population of Montana, Delaware, Idaho, Wyoming and Nevada does not equal the number of aliens who landed in the United in the year which ended June 30.

ECCENTRIC DINING ROOMS.

All Sorts of Ideas, Appropriate and Otherwise, for Mine Host.

In honor of M. Auguste Soeler, the president of the Hungarian Archaeological society, who has discovered 1,000 ancient tombs, a dinner was recently given. The dining-room was fixed up to resemble in appearance a prehistoric troglodyte's cave, numerous flint axes and bronze swords decorating the walls, while on the mantelpieces was placed a select collection of calcined bones. Cows' horns were used in the place of glasses, and the principal toast was "Mr. Soeler's 1,000th tomb," says London Tit-Bits.

Not long since a prominent New York photographer was entertained by a party of friends at luncheon in a room which was dimly lighted by ruby dark lanterns. To carry out the illusion the menus were printed on dry plates, and placed before the guests were such seeming photographic apparatus as boxes of dry plates, jars of paste, and tin cans of platinum. These, on nearer inspection, however, were found to contain the eatables.

That intrepid aeronaut, M. Santos-Dumont, has, if we may believe the Parisian journals, ridden his hobby into the dining room of his apartments in the Champs Elysees. From the ceiling of his room is suspended a small inflated balloon, in the car of which the eccentric Brazilian partakes of his meals, and at times gives dainty dinners to select parties of his friends.

On the completion of the large organ at the Sydney town hall a dinner was given by the makers, Messrs. Hill & Son, in the interior of the instrument. This idea was, however, originated in 1858, when an entertainment of a like character was held in the swell-box of the Leeds festival organ. Ten guests sat down to a choice repast, consisting of salmon, entrées, a haunch of venison and other delicacies.

Messrs. Frubinsaltz & Co., of Nancy, gave a sumptuous dinner to 155 guests in a gigantic tent which they had built for the Paris exhibition. The novel dining-room, which was constructed at a cost of $2,400, was 31 feet in length and breadth, and had a holding capacity of 92,400 gallons. It took over a year to make, and 155 workmen—the number of the guests invited—were employed upon the task.

On July 10, while the submarine boat Argonaut was running at a depth of 35 feet below the surface, a dinner was cooked and served to the 13 guests of the inventor, Capt. Lake, in a comfortably furnished saloon illuminated by electric light. On coming again to the surface the diners averred that beyond a slight headache they were none the worse for their novel entertainment.

At Sherry's restaurant, New York, a dinner for 35 guests took place recently in an oval room, shaped like an egg. The floor was thickly covered with straw, and amid the diners scamped the Ohio denizens of a farmyard—pigs, cocks, hens, geese, and ducks scurrying hither and thither much to the detriment of the ladies' dresses, while lambs and dogs were also in evidence. The sides of the room were painted with farm scenes and farm produce was suspended from the ceiling.

Mustaches and Appendicitis.

A curious case of appendicitis has occurred lately in a hospital at Brooklyn. The patient having been operated on, the surgeon discovered that the irritation of the appendix was caused by the presence of small hairs, which looked as if they belonged to the mustache. Questioned on the point when he began to recover, he confessed that he had been in the habit of biting his mustache and swallowing mechanically the bits that he nibbled off.

Must Serve.

The appeal from the Harrison Circuit Court sentencing Curtis Jett to life imprisonment for the murder of James B. Marcum was dismissed before the Court of Appeals and the prisoner will be taken to the penitentiary.

L. E. Mann, of Rowan, Democratic candidate for Congress, is here for a few days, and is much pleased with his prospects.

The primary will be held June 25. There are 13 counties in the district. He and Congressman Kehoe are the only candidates. The Committee assessed each $1.750 to defray expenses of election.

There were about 200 cattle on the market, and buying was slow; few horses were on sale.

For profanity and boisterous conduct Newton Carpenter was conspicuous. He was the center of attraction, was making a regular stump speech—a Fourth of July pyrotechnic, and defying arrest. Suddenly W. Traveling is Dangerous.

Constant motion jars the kidneys which are kept in place in the body by delicate attachments. This is the reason that travelers, trainmen, street car men, teamsters and all who drive very much, suffer from kidney disease in some form. Foley's Kidney Cure strengthens the kidneys and cures all forms of kidney and bladder disease. Geo. E. Hausan, locomotive engineer, Lima, O., writes, "Constant vibration of the engine caused me a great deal of trouble with my kidneys, and I got no relief until I used Foley's Kidney Cure." 42 4t

In a private letter from Rev. R. A. Thomas, Pomeroy, Washington, he says: "We have had an exceedingly mild winter. Thermometer rarely reached twenty degrees above zero. Fruit trees have dropped their bloom and in some sections a large amount of fruit will have to be taken off in order that the other may mature. Gardens are looking fine and farmers will finish seeding in another week." Mr. Thomases church is prospering under his direction.

THE RUSSIAN CENSOR.

Ridiculous and Exasperating Functionary in Czar's Domain.

However much an Englishman resident in Russia may be annoyed of that fascinating country, says the Pall Mall Gazette, it is not likely that he will wish to cut himself off from western civilization, and if he is located in a good sized town he will soon begin to look around to see what facilities he has for obtaining foreign newspapers. Some he may find in a cafe, others in a hotel, but if he wants them for his private reading he may not improbably discover a kiosk where French, German and even English papers are on sale. A little experience, however, will teach him that he cannot rely upon this source, for the supply will be irregular, and, worse still, the papers will have passed through the hands of that justly dreaded individual, the Russian censor.

As the news about Russia in the journals of other countries is often inconsiderable in quantity, the censor will not always use his scissors, but will content himself with blotting out the offending passages with printers' ink, and, as sand is used to dry this, the reader can generally guess to what extent the censor has been at work by the amount of sand that comes tumbling out from between the leaves as soon as he opens the paper. And unluckily there is no way of removing the obnoxious patch of black, which may sometimes cover as much as a column and a half. None the less, the ingenious Slav has succeeded in outwitting the censor, and it is not an uncommon thing in St. Petersburg society to be shown an album filled with "pares" that have been erased. The method of obtaining them is as follows: The Russian who buys the paper at home writes to a friend in London under cover: "Passage erased in column 2, page 7 of such and such a paper, for such and such a date. Please send." The friend accordingly buys the paper, cuts out the page indicated, and posts it under cover to St. Petersburg, where the "pare" at once becomes immortal, and obtains ten times as many readers as it would have had if it had been left untouched by the censor's ink.

Many of the things are blotted out for ridiculous reasons. Thus, for instance, some time ago some of the English residents in Riga had their curiosity aroused by observing that week after week an advertisement was obliterated in a certain London newspaper. One of them at last wrote for the slip, when it turned out that it was an advertisement of some one's pills, made up of a picture of the czar and a statement to the effect that he took care never to be without them. It was this that the censor blotted out each day with such a seal. Sometimes, too, that official simply obliterated a thing to show that he is awake and on the watch. A well known French writer, having published an article on Russia, in a well known French review, went about the date of issue to call on certain high functionaries at St. Petersburg, who overwhelmed him with congratulations for his temperate criticism. What then was his astonishment at discovering that every copy of the review that was supplied to the public in the ordinary way was minus his article, which had been clean excised. The censor, when asked to explain, said that the article contained nothing objectionable, but that he could not pass it all, and so thought it best to cut out the whole of it.

Foreign books are also subjected to another censor, and as the various censors do not work together, it may happen that what is forbidden in the original is allowed in a translation. Thus, for instance, Zola's famous novel "Nana" was prohibited by the official whose business it was to look after books that were being imported into Russia, whereas another censor allowed it to appear in a translation in a newspaper, under the form of a feuilleton.

100 Per Cent.
Quality.

There is something more in the business of purchasing a monument than "how cheap" the job can be obtained. You would not think of matching a piece of calico against a piece of silk; nor a piece of all-wool against shoddy stuff.

We pick the very best grades of granite and marble; select manufacturers of integrity and ability to build our work. When our customers inspect their work in the cemetery they cannot help but be pleased, for it is 100 PER CENT. QUALITY. We have spent forty-nine years in this one business. "Good Work All Through" is our motto. Let us figure with you for good work, honest work, work that will stand forever. Does that appeal to you?

Madison, Iowa, where he will have a much larger church and larger field in which to work. Before going to his new home Mr. Rogers is coming to Mt. Sterling on a little visit and will preach in the First Presbyterian Church on next Sunday. The were made by the visiting bishops. As an introduction of Bishop Galloway Bishop Smith said that during the past year 921,000 immigrants have landed on American shores, and that this fact presents a gigantic church problem that is difficult of solution. In his address Bishop Galloway, following the statement, said that the only solution is in the hands of the church and church extension should be the slogan.

Bishop Hoss said the day of the "mission shanty" and cheap tabernacle for the outskirts of the large cities, where the great mass of people are and where the church must go to reach them, is past and urged the building of substantial churches in their midst and the maintenance of churches of the highest order for their benefit.

Lexington District Conference of the Methodist Church will meet with the Church here June 7-9. There will be about 80 preachers and delegates present. Rev. E. G. B. Mann, of Lexington, will preside. Dr. P. H. Whisner, of Louisville, Co. Secretary of the Church Extension Fund will be among the visiting guests.

On March 25, 1901, the Olivo Hill Bank was organized. W. J. Rice has been its cashier from the beginning. The bank has been a success. Today it will be converted into a National Bank with capital stock increased to $25,000. The stock will be subscribed for by about 60 persons, mostly from this county. Mr. Claude Wilson, a young man from Louisville, the largest stockholder, will be elected cashier, the president will be either Senator W. B. Whitt or W. J. Rice. In keeping with the era of development and progress, this bank will assume larger proportions in monetary affairs in this section. It begins operation June 1 or soon after.

There is considerable building in progress. W. R. Moreland has contracts for five residences and business houses.

Although the impression has been made, from the decision of Court of Appeals, that the formation of Booneham county is null and void, yet the public will find that Booneham county is a lively corpse. The friends of the new county claim that the requirements of the constitution as to area, distance and population exist as facts, and that when the matter comes before the Carter Circuit Court, to which the Court of Appeals remanded it, these facts can be shown to exist. An amount of money sufficient to defray the necessary expense of investigation will be readily furnished.

The Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, met in Louisville April 29. By a resolution adopted 1903, by the amount of donations this year was limited to $45,000. The board has 226 applications for donations, amounting to $126,570.

The report of Dr. Whisner, corresponding secretary, shows that during the year ending the present month aid was extended by the board to 119 churches giving them $32,090, and lending them $47,090; and that the conference boards have aided 381 churches, with donations amounting to $43,530.

The report further shows that during the year closing March 31, the collections for church extension on the assessment reached $92,192.82 which is $14,361.32 in advance of the collections of any preceding year. A recapitulation of work done by the board since its organization in 1882 to the present time shows that the General Board aid 1,347 churches, giving and loaning them $1,055,895; and that the conference boards aided 4,373 churches with $583,492.
